STORY OF THE WALDENSES.

The Descendants of People Who Were Persecuted for Religion.

The Rev. Dr. Teofilo Gay, minister of the Waldensian church, in Rome, is a small, black bearded man, who in appearance and speech might be mistaken for a German rather than an Italian. His English, spoken in full, round voice, is fluent and clear. An idea of his work, as given by himself, is as follows:

You have all read of the unhappy Waldenses. Long ago they fled from their homes in Switzerland across the lofty Alps and down into our Italian valleys, there to find a refuge from persecution and a cluster of their own brethren. For years previously, a branch of the Waldensian church had been established on the Italian side of the mountains.

In the dark centuries of the Middle Ages our forefathers would accept nothing but the Bible, which was their strength and joy, and at the same time the cause to them of sore trials and tribulations. The Waldenses have always believed and felt that the Bible was worth far more than anything else, and in that belief they have never faltered.

Even in the earliest times they had a theological school, in which the students learned by heart whole books of the Bible. Then, leaving their native valleys, they journeyed over the mountains to their colony in Calabria, acting as cartographers on the road. You know how they entered the castles as merchants of gems and precious stones, and how, extolling the Word of God as the most precious gem of all, they left the good book with many a great lord and lady who had hardly heard of it before.

The Calabrian colony was destroyed by the Inquisition, but the Piedmontese valleys survived the persecutions—the thirty-three terrible persecutions to which they were subjected—until they were finally liberated less than half a century ago.

You have heard, too, of the fearful Waldensian massacre, after which only 4,000 out of 14,000 prisoners escaped to the mountains, and of the "glorious return of our fathers" to their valleys in 1689. That event, the most celebrated in our history, was commemorated by our people on the occasion of the 200th anniversary.

Today, on three valleys nestling together on the Italian side of the Alps very near to Turin, the capital of the old Piedmont, there are 30,000 Waldenses, descendants of the early champions of the faith.

Napoleon the Great, when he was crowned king of Italy, earned our lasting gratitude by granting us land and privileges beyond any we had before enjoyed. He then declared that the return of our fathers was the most wonderful feat in military history, and Napoleon, with all his faults, was an expert in military affairs.

Charles Albert, king of Savoy, when he gave his people a new constitution—now the constitution of Italy—in 1848 was obliged to grant civil and religious emancipation to the Waldenses, and it was only at that date that our struggles ended and our new era of happiness and prosperity began.

We have now, in our chief settlement, a theological school and a high school for young ladies, and Waldensian schools we have everywhere. Traveling through our valleys you will at once guess you are in a Christian country. You will see children going to Sunday school with their New Testaments under their arms. You will see men and women, dressed in holiday costume, coming down from the mountains to go to church. You will find the valleys dotted with the edifices devoted to our pure and simple worship.

We don't leave our valleys. When 2,000 or 3,000 Waldenses went away across the seas to found a colony in Uruguay people predicted the depopulation of our native land; but there is no danger of that. Our mountains are not elastic. They will not hold more than 30,000 people within their high and everlasting walls. Some of the Waldenses, therefore, are compelled from time to time to emigrate.

But, though separated from us by thousands of miles of earth and ocean, the colonists in Uruguay form one of the seventeen parishes of the church of the valleys, and send a deputy every September to our synod.

Outside of our own territory we have planted the seed of our faith, and reaped abundant fruit in ninety-seven different places throughout Italy, including all the large cities and many less important towns.—Boston Herald.

Parasites of the Tiger.

In speaking of the minute parasites which are found in the hairy part of a tiger's foot, a scientist says: "They constitute one of the most wonderful curiosities I know of in the animal world. The parasites are so small as to be almost invisible to the naked eye, and yet each is a perfect counterpart of the tiger—head, ears, jaw, legs, claws, body, tail, all are there. You may think this is a big story, but look the subject up and see if it is not so."—New York Tribune.

Among historic rings is one said to be Shakespeare's signet. Upon the seal, entwined with a true lover's knot, are the initials W. S. It was lost before his death and found many years after by a laborer's wife near Stratford churchyard. This is the only authentic piece of his personal property known to be in existence.

INGALLS ON THE NAVY.

Ingalls, of Kansas, who was shelved by the Farmers' Alliance, was an "old flag and an appropriation" shrieker while in the United States Senate. He was accused of opposing President Lincoln in war days, but after the war was over he waved the bloody shirt so long as a shroud of it was left. Since the farmers concluded that it would better subserve their interests to elect a man to the Senate who concedes that the war is over and recognizes as his fellow citizens men from all parts of the Union, Ingalls spews his venom on his old associates. In an article in a New York paper he ridicules the idea that there is any necessity for a navy, and in that perhaps he is right, though as Senator he never uttered such sentiments. He says the pamphlet describing the blood curdling and appalling consequences of a war with Chili and Spain in 1905, had been sent to every Senator and Representative in Congress, and is now filed away for use in 1892, the purpose being to reconcile the people to the Naval Appropriation bill and the enormous and prodigious expenditures in times of peace for ships, fortifications and munitions of war.

He says, and facts substantiate the assertion, "that the capacity of the United States to create a navy in an emergency was demonstrated in the rebellion. European nations have been conducting these expensive experiments hitherto and the ships of 1890 are already antiquated. Dynamite and other explosives complicate the situation, and the navy we are now building at a cost of $50,000,000 will be worthless in 1900 as Roman galleys. England, France and Italy would gladly sell their fleets at 50 per cent. of their cost.

"The millions we are now squandering on vessels had better be spent for earth-works and powerful guns to command every roadbed, channel and harbor which a hostile fleet could threaten or assail. I there any necessity for spending millions every year for naval defense? Our policy is pacific. Our only enemy is England and she is under bond to keep the peace. No other nation is so vulnerable, and none so detested. She has incurred the resentment of the human race by centuries of injustice. England kicked us when we were helpless and feeble; she sacked and burned a defenseless capital; she kicked Ireland, she kicked Egypt; she kicked the Hindoos, Zulus, Boers, Chinese, but she is not in the habit of kicking her equals."

Had Ingalls, as Senator from Kansas, expressed on the floor of the Senate, what he now writes to a newspaper as a private citizen, his words would have had some effect in preventing the lavish expenditure of the peoples' money for vessels which he admits will be useless for the purpose of defense in a few years, but like many of our Nevada statesmen, he is a different personage as a private citizen from what he was as Senator.

REFORM IN NEVADA.

The Secret Ballot bill which passed the Senate some weeks ago is still pigeon-holed in the Assembly. This leads the Carson Appeal to comment as follows: "It is certain that a large majority of the people of the State demand the measure, and the Republicans, having a majority and being pledged by the State platform, which is endorsed by their county platforms, to enact such a law, a failure will be not simply a breach of faith, it will be gross treachery, and will end all claim to recognition for honorable dealing. The members want the bill, but strong influence, re-enforced by sophistical arguments, have been brought to bear to prevent the passage of any measure that will insure a free expression of the will of the people.

"Those members who hesitate about keeping their party pledge, should bear in mind that nobody, who has investigated the question, opposes the Australian ballot system, but those who expect to force employees to vote against their convictions, or those who hope to profit by handling the sacks by which corrupt voters are persuaded to support unworthy or unpopular candidates."

The Appeal states facts at the present time, but the trouble with that and very many others is that at every recurring election they support the nominees of the "bosses," forgetting or forgiving their delinquencies. If the Republicans who profess to-day to be opposed to boss rule, and there are many of them who make such professions, will continue their opposition until the polls close at the next election, reforms which will benefit the people will be inaugurated. They ought to know by this time that the bosses do not care for their grumbling and fault-finding between elections so long as they support their nominees at the polls.

Every intelligent citizen of Nevada who pays attention to the manner in which public affairs are conducted at the State Capital knows that the Government is republican only in name. The will of the majority of the electors of the State, expressed by ballot in the manner prescribed by the Constitution, is wholly ignored. A few tools, who are not responsible to the people, control the majority of the Legislature and permit no measure that does not receive the approval of their employers to become a law. This is no new procedure in Nevada, but it is more marked in this session than heretofore, because the necessity for reform is more apparent and the pledges of the dominant party to effect reform and reduce expenses were more emphatic in its platform last year than ever before. If the people merely grumble from now until election day and then swallow the dose which the henchmen of the bosses prepare for them and sugar coat with the name "Republican," the bosses will be satisfied.

Very many respectable Republicans, men, who prefer the public welfare to boss rule, profess to be thoroughly disgusted with their party in Congress and in the Legislature, and say they are done with it forever and aye. If the next House of Representatives passes a free coinage bill, many of them will unite with the Democrats, and if it does not, many Democrats will join them in organizing an independent party on a Farmers' Alliance basis.

A NEW TRANSCONTINENTAL ROAD.

Contracts Let and Work to be Commenced at Once.

The San Francisco Chronicle says the little line known as the California & Nevada Railroad has been purchased by J. A. Williamson of the Atlantic & Pacific and eastern capitalists.

"A large force of men will be put to work getting the road into shape, and trains will be run daily, to the great advantage of the little section which it now traverses. Contracts for the change of gauge and additional grading were let on Monday last Daniel Robinson, General Manager of the Atlantic & Pacific, was in San Francisco at the time, and in these facts, too, are doubtless the reasons of President Allen's recent and unexpected visit to this coast.

"When the Santa Fe acquired the Colorado Midland last Fall the question was asked why the company had purchased a line which runs to no particular place. The explanation of this deal is now very simple. Surveys have been made from Bodie across Nevada to Pioche, which is the east of San Francisco, and thence to Grand Junction on the Colorado Midland, and the place where that line strikes the Rio Grande Western. A preliminary survey has also been run from the Moraga Valley out across the Sierra to Bodie.

"The dry has been raised very often that at last there is to be another line into San Francisco. The statement that the name of the California & Nevada will be shortly changed to that of the California, Nevada & Santa Fe, and that there is a bona fide intention to build the shortest and an almost straight line to Chicago, Kansas City and the East, will perhaps be accepted with doubt. Such, however, is the fact. Not only is this line to be built, but the line from Great Bend to Colorado Springs is to be finished, still further shortening the distance to the East, and while giving to the Santa Fe the greatest system in the country it will at the same time very materially help the development of this State."

If the Chronicle's statements prove to be facts, Reno will be a competitive railroad point, as the Virginia & Truckee and Carson & Colorado will make a connecting line with the new road at Belleville or some point in Esmeralda county.

The California Legislature.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The California Legislature will to-morrow commence balloting for United States Senator to complete the unexpired term of George Hearst, deceased. Republicans have ninety votes out of a total of one hundred and twenty in both Houses. It would require forty-six votes in a Republican caucus to decide upon a candidate, but as no caucus has been ordered balloting will begin without unanimous party action, and early balloting promises to show wide scattering of votes. The candidates most prominently mentioned are Morris M. Estes, ex-Congressman Chas. N. Felton, M. H. De Young, Geo. H. Bonebrake, ex-Governor Geo. O. Perkins, Gen. N. P. Chipman and ex-Senator A. P. Williams. The Democratic members of the Legislature, while having held no caucus as yet, have evinced a desire to cast a complimentary vote for some one of their party, and among those mentioned in this connection are Jas. V. Coleman, ex-Mayor Pond, Congressman Thos. J. Clunie and Wm. D. English. If balloting does not result in an election in two or three days it is believed an effort will be then made by the Republican members to secure a party caucus.

A Fireman Killed.

Special to the Journal.

SEATTLE, March 9.—Herman Larson, the fireman who was injured last week during a practice drill of the fire boat Snoqualmie, died this morning at the Providence Hospital. Larson was holding the nozzle, which swerved to one side, and a powerful stream of water struck him full in the breast and hurled him a distance of at least thirty feet, impaling him on an iron spike that projected several inches from the dock. The lower portion of his abdomen was torn and lacerated in a frightful manner.

VITRIOL THROWING.

A Child Frightfully Burned.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Twenty five or thirty Polish Hebrews went to Jamaica, Long Island, early this morning to wreak vengeance on Herman Greenbaum, the proprietor of the cloak manufacture, who was employing non-union people. They smashed in the doors and proceeded to destroy the stock. The proprietor and his wife were kicked and beaten, and vitriol was thrown on the manufacturer's four-year-old son, burning him in a terrible manner. Frank Ringgold, the man said to have thrown the vitriol, was captured in New York this afternoon. The child cannot survive his injuries. Greenbaum and his wife are also both in doctors' hands.

King Alphonso's Treasure.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—A dispatch from Pittsburg last night stated that the First National Bank of Pittsburg had received a letter from a Spanish priest telling of treasure belonging to the late King Alphonso, which was buried in Luzerne county, Pennsylvania. The story bears the remarkable resemblance to a letter received nearly two years ago by a San Francisco gentleman. The letter was dated Lagunto near Valencia, Spain, April 4, 1889, and was signed M. Del Rio. It told of a prisoner, named Frederique Val, who had buried the treasure in the United States. The letter was very vague and great secrecy was enjoined. The gentleman answered the letter, and in return received another letter, this time signed Frederique Val. It stated that he was one of King Alphonso's courtiers and had been entrusted by him with treasure consisting of money and jewels which was buried in this country. He had been imprisoned and was without money or friends, and if the gentleman would kindly forward him a little over three thousand francs to pay court expenses he would send him papers so that the treasure could be found. The gentleman was to receive one third as his share. Val also said that the papers were in the possession of the Spanish authorities who did not know their value and that they could be easily obtained. The gentleman took no further notice of the matter as he thought it was a swindle.

High Water and Cyclone in Mississippi. Special to the Journal.

NEW ORLEANS, March 9.—The Pionee's Broken, Miss., special says. We have been isolated since last Saturday, when the last train passed north. Continued rains since Thursday night have raised the water in Big Black river higher than ever known, and is still rising rapidly. The Illinois Central railroad track is lifted bodily from its bed, and deposited in a ditch for miles below and above here and the embankment swept away. Incalculable damage has been done by water.

A cyclone passed over this place Saturday morning without doing any damage, dropping over in Madison county, where it caused destruction of life and property. Passing from there into Attala county, near Newport, several houses were blown down and four negroes killed.

The Ballot Reform Bill.

Special to the Journal.

SACRAMENTO, March 9.—The Ballot Reform bill has passed both branches of the Legislature. The amendments adopted by the House to-day will, however, necessitate a conference with the Senate. They provide that the Presidential electors may be grouped and voted for. They strike out the provision requiring 3 per cent of the voters, voting at the preceding election and inserting 5 per cent in lieu thereof. In the matter of nominating by petition it also strikes out the provision that 1,000 signatures shall constitute a nomination by petition, for any State office, leaving all the nominations governed by the 5 per cent proviso or regular nominating convention.

Political Agitation in Cuba. Special to the Journal.

PARIS, March 9.—A dispatch to Temps from Madrid says the Spanish Government is about to dispatch 6,320 troops to Cuba on account of the increasing political agitation on the island. The Spanish press protests against the Americans encouraging Cuban separatists, in connection with the proposed treaty of commerce.

A Free Fight.

Special to the Journal.

LOUISVILLE, March 9.—A regular pitched battle was fought by a number of desperate men at a place called "Hell's half acre" in Virginia, near Cumberland Gap, last evening. Hugh Johnson was killed, Garrett Southern and Moss Gibson fatally shot and two others seriously wounded. The first two were arrested last October on suspicion of being the men who shot young Morris Wills. The fight was started by them in revenge against those who were witnesses against them.

A Dense Fog.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, March 9.—This afternoon a dense fog hastened twilight in this city. The river and bay were shrouded in impenetrable mist. Similar reports come from along the coast. At Baltimore all navigation is stopped, and at Cape Henry not a vessel passed in or out to-day.

Will be Represented at Chicago. Special to the Journal.

BERLIN, March 9.—Leading manufacturers from all parts of Germany will meet here next week to take measures for a proper representation of German manufactures at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago.

A Working Woman's Appeal.

The working girls' clubs have been considering for some time the different reasons why people of leisure look down with a sense of superiority upon self supporting women. In Far and Near, the organ of the association of clubs, a working woman, Lucy A. Warner, makes an eloquent appeal to the world for the answer of the question, which to them is hard to understand.

"Is it because we lack natural ability?" she asks, and proceeds to call attention to the delicate and difficult work accomplished by women requiring the help of eye and hand and brain, stating concisely: "There is no copyright on brains. God is no respecter of persons, and so to us working girls he has intrusted one, two, and to some even five talents.

"Is it because we lack education?" she continues, and tells of many working girls who spend all their leisure in study because it is a delight to them.

"Is it because we lack virtue? A noted man once said, 'Not even the famed Hebrew maiden as she stood on the giddy turret more sacredly guarded her honor than does many a half starved sewing woman in the streets of New York.' We are proud of our honor, we are as careful of our reputation as our sisters who dress in purple and fine linen. It is true there are exceptions, but has not the immortal working girl her rivals among women who should be her teachers in all pure and noble living?"

"Is it because we work?" she concludes, and speaks of the professional people whom the world honors and yet who are all busy workers. Working women have discovered to their sorrow that there is a difference between brain work and manual toil. "The teacher considers herself superior to the sewing girl, and the sewing girl thinks herself above the mill girl, and the mill girl thinks the girl who does general housework beneath her, and Miss Flora McPherson, who toils not, neither does she spin, thinks herself superior to them all. Is one kind of work any more honorable than another? Is any honest work degrading?"

Character at the Table.

At a grand hotel in Italy a guest had arrived who made a great display of wealth, and of whom none could learn anything. At the table d'hôte one day, helping himself to an olive with his fork, it was decided he was only a common plebeian, for olives are handled only with the fingers among civilized people throughout Christendom. Table manners at many of our best hotels in our principal cities invariably shock the sensibilities of those accustomed to the graces of polite society. It is conceded that there is an exhilaration in the atmosphere of Paris, of Vienna and of Berlin that draws out any refinement one may have in his or her nature, and elevates to a higher plane than ever before experienced.—Cor. DIED.

TAYLOR.—In Pleasant Valley, Elko county, Nevada, Friday, March 6, 1891. Mary, wife of Geo. W. Taylor, aged 64 years, 5 months, 9 days.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELIZA A. GORF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

A note from Winnemucca to the JOURNAL states that the people of Paradise petitioned Judge Fitzgerald to impose the highest sentence prescribed by law on Robert Burge, who was indicted for assault to do great bodily injury, and found guilty of simple assault. The complaining witness, James Ritchie, signed the petition, paid the fine imposed by the Court on the defendant with whom he shook hands, buried the hatchet, took a drink and had a general love feast.

An Explanation.
The Silver State says: "The Reno Gazette published in Thursday's issue a good article entitled 'Protection Grows in the South.' The Silver State published the same article in its editorial columns in Friday's issue and gave proper credit for the same. The Silver State clipped its article from the American Economist; where the Gazette stole his from we don't pretend to say."

A Good One.

A young gentleman while looking over some papers the other day which were dated a good many years back, came across the following puzzle which will no doubt interest our readers:

Put down the day of month of your birth.

Double it.

Add 7.

Multiply by 50.

Add your age.

Subtract 365.

Multiply by 100.

Add number of month of your birth.

Add 1,500.

The first two figures of result will be the day of your birth; the next two figures your age; the last figure the number of month of your birth.—Napa Journal.

THE CARSON GLOVE CONTEST.

The Records of the Men Engaged to Fight.

The fight to a finish with two-ounce gloves between Jack Shea, the lightweight pugilist, and Matt Brannan, the Carson champion, will take place next Thursday night at the Carson Opera House for $250 a side and gate money.

Brannan fought in Carson with Billy Elliott about two years ago, and knocked Elliott out in the second round. He fought with Wilson, alias Patey McKune last month a ten round contest, Wilson failing to knock him out.

Shea is a graduate of Harry Maynard's Academy in San Francisco. He whipped Warren Webster of San Jose in 16 rounds, and fought a 42 round draw with Billy Mahen. He whipped Deacon Jones, Maynard's Black Angel, in two rounds, Billy Graham in seven rounds, "Tug" Wilson in four rounds at Fresno, George White at Los Angeles, and Harvey Graham at Santa Barbara in three rounds. He fought George Gregson at Marysville, nine rounds, and was stopped by the police before the fight was decided. He whipped Jack Delaney at Sausalito in three rounds, and George Gannon, of New York, in Truckee in two minutes. Shea is 22 years of age, five feet, eight inches in height, and weighs stripped 144 pounds. He is a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and Brannan is a native of Nevada. The latter is about 23 years of age and weighs about 154 pounds. A license has been procured from the authorities, and the contest is expected to be one of the most interesting to the patrons of the "manly art" that ever took place in Nevada.

Are We All Mad?
Doctors do not like to talk to newspaper men, for good reasons. Doctors are custodians of the best stories in existence, and when a newspaper man can worm one of these stories from such a source it is too good to keep. But of course the physician must be kept in the dark. Even then the physician does not like to talk, because he is afraid his name might come out. One of these specialists was talking in his reception room the other day and he made this statement:
"There is nothing new in the proposition that we are all mad. That's a story as old as the hills and is true. We call the insanity that is at large latent insanity. If it doesn't come in contact with a shock or some disease it may remain latent until death stops the machinery. I know men in business who are liable to go to pieces mentally if the unexpected happens. I once knew a man who was cashier in a bank, and I had it from those who knew of his work that no more competent and accurate man ever held a place.
"But I had been his physician and his father's before him, and I knew that the man was mad. His insanity was only asleep. So well did I know him that I warned him to keep himself free from such excitement as would result from a certain disease. As I had feared, that disease finally made its appearance in the country, and the man blew out his brains as soon as he heard of it, although the case was 2,000 miles away."
—Chicago Tribune.

Chimney Pots.
When we reflect with satisfaction how far we have emancipated ourselves from the restraints of fashion in the matter of beards, does it not seem marvelous that we still endure the oppressive, though unwritten law which constitutes the chimney pot hat to be the only decorous head-dress for well to do male humanity? Wo! wo! aesthetic woe to the sons of men who, having cast aside one after another the Phrygian cap, the furred birrus, the slashed bonnet, the knightly heaver, the three-cocked hat and the feathered glengarry, have resolved that whosoever will enter good society must bind his brows with the gloomy cylinder! None has a word to say in its favor; every one hates it and condemns it. In traveling the hideous object has to be provided with a special case, yet for more than three generations it has been held indispensable. There is a cynical levity in the ribbon which still encircles its rigid circumference, recalling the happy days when a hat band was a reality, used to adjust the flexible covering to the head. Odious as it is admitted to be, perhaps the most serious objection to it from the point of view of taste is the hindrance it presents to any tendency in our other garments to become more picturesque. Every visible article of outfit has to be brought to the aesthetic level of the headpiece. A chimney pot hat crowning a tasteful costume reduces it to ridicule.—Blackwood's Magazine.

The Great Irish Famine.
As winter advanced the distress grew deeper and fiercer. It was a hard winter, cold rains and snows alternating. To famine and fever was added cold. Hundreds of cabins in County Cork had nothing on their earth floors save a few rotten bundles of straw—not a blanket, "not a stick of furniture." Neither could the people afford in many cases even the cheap peat fires. The men tramped barefoot through the snow to the relief works. Their rags hardly covered their bones. It was the commonest thing in the world for men to be "struck with the cold" and die in a day or two.
All over the country men and women could be seen "redigging the potato grounds, in hopes of finding some few remaining." They were bending over the fields which the sheep had deserted, trying to find turnip roots. Families were known to have lived for weeks "on the flesh of horses that had died."
A Skibbereen man with a family of five had nothing for them all to eat from Saturday to Thursday except eleven and one-half pounds of potatoes and a head of cabbage. He walked several miles to the works and the superintendent gave him a piece of bread; he tried to swallow it and dropped dead.—Octave Thomet in Century.

WOMEN AND MICE.
The reason why a woman is afraid of a mouse is a profound mystery—indeed, it has never been very clearly proven that she is. But some women are constantly in such a nervous, irritable condition that the slightest thing annoys and startles them. The cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is usually some functional derangement; some distressing or painful irregularity, some derangement or peculiar weakness incident to her sex; or it may be due to inflammation, ulceration or displacement of some of the pelvic viscera, or to other organic lesions peculiar to her sex. From whatever cause it may arise, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive remedy, so certain in its curative results that its manufacturers sell it through druggists, under a guarantee of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. It is a soothing and strengthening nerve, a favorite prescription, subdues nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other nervous symptoms attendant upon disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves anxiety and despondency.
